Teacher Recommendations

Miss Williams recommends...

Accidental Trouble Magnet follows the everyday adventures of Omar. He tries to stay out of trouble, but sometimes it just finds him! After his parents move house, Omar starts at a new school and has to deal with making new friends, a school bully and a disastrous trip to the Science Museum.

Miss Grant recommends...

Timothy Pope has a brand-new telescope and he's testing it out in the park. Peep through the die-cut holes in this book to see if you can spy a shark. Is that really a shark? This delightful, entertaining story is filled with opportunities to develop your child's understanding of rhyming words.

Mrs Mercer recommends...

I have always loved Dr Seuss books. When I was young it was the silliness and rhyming that I enjoyed about his books. There are over 50 wacky Dr Seuss short stories to pick from, the perfect quick read! But even now my absolute favourite, that I go back to again and again, is 'Oh The Places You'll Go!' If I'm feeling a bit down or disappointed with how things are going Dr Seuss reminds me that "Life's a great balancing act" but don't worry, don't stew, you will succeed "98 and three quarter percent guaranteed"!

Meet our new Reading Ambassadors!

We are proud to introduce our wonderful new reading ambassadors! These children really show a love for reading and their aim is to share that love of reading to our Eccleston Lane Ends community! In our next newsletter, they will be sharing their favourite books and their ideas to promote reading throughout school!
